Death of a Well Known Doctor.

With the passing away of Dr. William Vanden Berg, who died at Zeeland, this community loses one of its noted and best known characters.
Death resulted from a stroke of apoplexy. He was 77 years of age last June and was the oldest practicing physician in Ottawa county. He had experienced all of the hardships and privations of early pioneer life, having practiced in this country for about 50 years.

Dr. Vanden Berg was born at Yperen, Belgium, June 7, 1826. His father was a surgeon under Napoleon, though the family originally came from Harlem, province of South Holland, Netherlands. At the of 19 years the young man graduated in medicine and surgery at Utrecht and there he held an appointment in the Dutch army. In 1847 he came to this country, landing at Philadelphia and spent a short time there and at New York, when he came to Buffalo, N. Y. There he was married in 1850 to Miss Henrietta Notting, who was born in the province of Drenthe, Netherlands, July 13, 1829.

They lived happily together for over 50 years until her death at Zeeland
Oct. 11, 1901. In 1854 the doctor moved to Grand Rapids, where he practiced for some time. Later they moved to Drenthe, Ottawa county, and then to Zeeland. The death of his wife was a severe blow to him and he frequently referred to her death as his greatest affliction.

He was a man of superior education and was well read on many lines. His memory and knowledge of history, of human nature and of political affairs was remarkable and he was a brilliant conversationalist.

He is survived by five sons and two daughters, Dr. J. W. of New Holland; Christian of Grand Rapids, Benjamin, Alfred and Edward of Zeeland; Gertrude, Mrs. T. Van Eenennaam of Zeeland; and Jane, Mrs. Wm. Brande of Grand Rapids. Another son, Dr. Henry Vanden Berg, who practiced medicine at Fremont, died last year. A sister, Mrs. DeGlopper, resides at Jenison.

The funeral took place Wednesday from the residence at 1 o'clock and from the Reformed church at Zeeland at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. J. P. DeJongh officiating, and was largely attended.

Marshall-Boonstra.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, July 1, at 4 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boonstra of Zeeland, when their daughter Maude was united in marriage to Mr. J. Earle Marshall, superintendent of the Zeeland schools. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Marshall of Grandville, father of the groom. The bride couple were attended by Miss Charlotte Marshall, sister of the groom and Mr. Arthur Dupree of Grand Rapids, a college chum of the groom.
Among the guests present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. James Mc-Crum of Newark, Ohio, and Mrs. Thos.
Johnson and daughter Nellie of Grand Haven, Mrs. Richard Huizenga and Miss Gertrude Huizenga of Rock Valley, Iowa, Miss Alice Wixom of Detroit and Miss Susie Perline of Albion.
The bride wore a dainty gown of white and carried bride's roses. Her bridesmaid was gowned in pink and carried roses.

The rooms were decorated with marguerites and lilies.
The bride and groom received many gifts which were both beautiful and valuable.

On Thursday evening a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents in Grandville. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and about one hundred guests were present during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will be at home in Zeeland after September 1.

Boy Killed at Berlin.

In a head-on collision at Berlin, this county, between two cars on the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven & Muskegon Interurban road on July 4, Marinus Schouwenaar of Grand Rapids, formerly of Grand Haven, was killed. The accident happened through a misunderstanding of orders. In rounding a curve the motorman on the west bound car saw the danger and jumped but young Schouwenaar was caught in the front end of the car and besides being terribly crushed, was electrocuted.
His clothing was burned almost completely off and his flesh badly burned.

THE HAND OF GOD IN AMERICAN HISTORY.

Our nation's history shows us
God's leadings all the way.
From the time of its earliest dawning,
Until the present day.

In the terrible persecutions
Then waged in foreign lands,
We trace the victorious rulings
Of God's Almighty Hand.

It brought to our country
Noble, Christian men,
Who braved the trials and dangers,
But were destined still to win.

In the war for independence,
The strong against the weak,
He led the soldiers valiantly
Their liberty to seek.

The liberty He gave us
To His glory we should use,
And may we ne'er by word or action,
Our privileges abuse.

The "Hand of God" is plainly seen
In the men he raised to lead
Our country through its darkest hour,
And its greatest hour of need.

He ruled the war for the Union,
That in this glorious land
Freedom might be enjoyed by all
And we united stand.

God leads us both in war and peace,
In paths both dark and bright,
But if we follow where he leads
We shall be led aright.

So let us ever then be true,
And ready to obey,
The Lord who hath so wondrously
Led us all the way.

ANON.

A PLEASANT FOURTH.

July fourth passed off pleasantly here,
the fine weather drawing large crowds
from the surrounding country and towns to enjoy the attractions at Macatawa and Jenison Parks. The interurban line used their express cars in addition to all their passenger cars to carry the ten thousand visitors that thronged the resorts that day. A fifteen minutes service to the resorts was given, while on the Grand Rapids-Holland line a twenty minutes service was maintained.
Between Holland and Saugatuck cars were run every thirty minutes. At the ball park two games were played between the Holland team and the Lake-sides of Chicago. The visitors did not get a run in either game. Root pitched the morning game and Karsten the afternoon game.

POPE'S COURSE IS ON

Head of the Roman Catholic Church Has the Sympathy of the Great People.

GRASPED BY DEATH BY FINGERS

He Lies While the World Waits What Shall Be His Issue.

Catches Cold in Vatican Gardens Which Develops into Senile Pneumonia—As Taken His Last Communion.

Rome, July 7.—2:30 p. m.—The pope has been operated upon and his general condition is now better.

Rome, July 7, 7:42 a. m.—The pope took nourishment four times during the night. His pulse shows a slight improvement. At half-past three this morning he left his bed for an arm chair.

Rome, July 7, 8:55 a. m.—Another morning has broken on the pathetic scene within the simple chamber of the Vatican where Pope Leo lies dying. As the light of dawn penetrated into the room the pontiff whispered to his devoted physician that he desired the shutters of the windows to be opened, saying: "I wish to see once more, perhaps for the last time, the rays of the sun."

Pope Leo awoke wet with perspiration, feeble to the extreme and his voice hardly audible. The fits of coughing had brought pains in his chest and shoulders, and thinking his end was now near he said to Dr. Lapponi: "Tell me when the time really comes." The doctor assured his holiness that he believed the danger of his immediate passing was averted for the night and for today.

Rome, July 6.—After all the false alarms Pope Leo is at last "sick unto death." He is suffering from senile pneumonia, superinduced by a cold which he contracted Friday while taking an outing in the Vatican grounds, and his condition is such as to cause grave concern among those nearest to his person. In fact the situation is so grave that he has been informed of his critical condition and has partaken of the last communion. The end of his life is drawing near very rapidly.

Interview with Dr. Mazzoni. The Associated Press correspondent saw Dr. Mazzoni on his return from consultation at Pope Leo's bedside (and before the foregoing was written). The doctor said: "The situation this time is certainly really grave, in view of the great age of the patient and his state of extreme weakness. However, the case is not yet desperate, especially with a man having such unexpected reserves of energy and vitality, which at the age of 93 is indeed astonishing. The exact definition of the pope's illness is senile adynamic pneumonia, but his holiness has not the least idea that he is attacked by any organic disease."

Didn't Know How Ill He Was.

"In fact, he was not in bed when I went to the Vatican, but was seated in his usual arm chair, where I am accustomed to see him every time I visit the palace. He believes that the oppression on his chest and the accompanying difficulty of breathing are merely the results of extreme weakness. As soon as he saw me his holiness repeatedly requested me to turn my attention to the best means of restoring his strength, which he said was all he required except a little fresh air. Now and then the pope has recourse to his inveterate habit of snuff taking, saying that he finds it very refreshing."

TAKES HIS LAST COMMUNION

Solemn Ceremony Performed at the Bedside of the Pontiff.

At 7:20 p. m. yesterday the condition of the pope was so grave that it appeared that only a few hours of his life remained to him. It was, therefore, deemed wise to advise him of his grave condition, and this was done with tender precaution. Pope Leo was thus prepared for his last communion, which was administered at night with the participation of all the cardinals now in Rome and the whole of the pontifical court. The solemn yet gorgeous ceremony took place at the bedside. The central figure was the dying pontiff.

Around the bed were grouped the noble guards, the Knights of the Cloak and Sword, twenty-five cardinals, all the members of the sacred college who are present in Rome, the whole forming a scene of rich, yet subdued, coloring, a fit subject for the pencil of Rembrandt. The whole of what is called the pontifical family, headed by Cardinal Rampolla and including all the private chamberlains, was there.

Nearest to the bed stood the figure of the cardinal grand penitentiary, Serafino Vannutelli, with the pope's confessor to hear the last confession of the departing pontiff. Then the priest apostolic approached, bearing the viaticum to give the last communion, and another the extreme unction, assisted by the grand penitentiary. Pope Leo feebly recited the confession of faith as formulated by the council of Trent, and finally the words of absolution and the formula of indulgence in articulo mortis were solemnly pronounced by the grand penitentiary. The heads of the great religious orders who were present granted the pope special indulgences which they have the privilege of conferring. Then came the touching prayers for a passing soul and part of the gospel—the Lord's passion. As the last words died away all fell on their knees.

The pontiff, raising his almost transparent fingers with a feeble effort, pronounced in scarcely audible words his benediction on the sacred college and on all present, and then sank back on the pillows. There was scarcely a tearful eye in the whole assemblage; the sobe of the pope's relatives were plainly heard. Deep silence fell, only broken now and again by a murmured prayer or a pious ejaculation.

INTERVIEW WITH DR. LAPPONI

Explains the Situation, and Shows the Pope's Indefatigable Energy.

Rome, July 7.—The correspondent of the Associated Press interviewed Dr. Lapponi during his brief absence from the Vatican. It was easy to read in the pale face the signs of anxious days and nights spent watching his august patient, while his words proved unmistakably how deep an affection he bears for Pope Leo. "Unfortunately," said Dr. Lapponi, "I cannot give you any really consoling news. I cannot share the optimism which is spreading today, which is not owing to a definite change for the better but to the spirit of the pope, who is giving further proof that his indefatigable energy continues."

"The truth is that the pontiff's condition is stationary which means that it is very grave. I will go so far as to say that although he may live for several days it would be cherishing an illusion to think he may recover, unless some unforeseen crisis occurred. His pulse has become, to use a medical term, evanescent, which means almost imperceptible. The pope, except during short periods of uneasiness, when his cough is troublesome, is generally bright and in good spirits, and displays great force of character."

"This morning, again, at his own wish, he left his bed and seated himself in his arm chair, as he finds a sitting posture more comfortable than being recumbent. What surprises all who approach him is that there has been no change in the lucidity of his intellect, which disease has not affected. For instance, not a single detail of the ceremony of the last communion escaped the pope's observation. He spoke of it with great interest, recalling each personage who participated."

"The worst symptom, apart from the feebleness of the pontiff's pulse, is his low temperature, which is stationary at 31 centigrade. He continues to take nourishment at short intervals, but not in such quantities as his weakness requires or his doctors wish. Nothing medical science can suggest and his organism can stand has been left untried; for instance, oxygen, cutaneous revulsives, digitalis and caffeine, which have also been injected to produce more rapid effect. The disease is senile pneumonia in a torpid form, which is now at its maximum intensity, but which may have begun unobserved before the pope complained of any feeling of illness."

Three Killed by Explosion.

Chicago, July 7.—The explosion of 500 gross of toy pistol caps in a factory at Grand Crossing caused the instant death of three men and the injury of many other persons. The concussion was felt for miles, and for blocks from the wrecked building. The dead—Charles Hazlehurst, aged 18 years, parts of body found 600 feet from building; Thomas Hazlehurst, aged 48 years, married; Irvin Sanford, aged 20 years, dropped box containing explosive, instantly killed.

Threaten Negro Harvesters.

Topeka, Kan., July 7.—In several localities in the wheat belt negroes have been imported to help in saving the wheat. In all of these disturbances and threats of violence have been made by the white men. Four Edwards county farmers wired Governor Bailey for protection against threatened mobbing of negro harvesters by white men. Governor Bailey wired that they must apply to the sheriff for the protection asked for.

Big Packing Plant Destroyed.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 7.—Fire destroyed the main building of the Hammond packing plant, causing a loss estimated at $1,500,000. The Nelson Morris plant was saved by heroic work. It is reported that two and possibly three men lost their lives. One of these was Fire Marshal Charles Miller of the Hammond plant fire department.

FARMER'S FIELD AND GARDEN

SPRAYING POTATOES.

Preventive Treatment For Early Blight, Late Blight and Rot. Fungous diseases are caused by the growth of one plant upon another. The fundamental principle in the treatment of fungous diseases is to prevent the infection of the host plant by the spores of fungi. The most practical way of doing this is to apply to the plant to be protected some substance that will kill the spores before or immediately after they germinate without injuring the host plant. Such a substance is called a fungicide. The method of application is usually by spraying.

Copper sulphate (common names, blue vitriol, bluestone) is the most generally used fungicidal substance. It is used both in a simple solution and as the basis of bordeaux mixture. The simple solution of blue vitriol when applied to leaves or other green parts of plants will cause "burning." The addition of lime to the solution will prevent this injury. This combination is called bordeaux mixture.

The following is a good formula for the bordeaux mixture: Blue vitriol, 5 pounds; lime (fresh), 5 pounds; water, 50 gallons.

Dissolve the vitriol in water (hot water will do it more rapidly), slack the lime, dilute each with as much water as can be done conveniently, the more the better; then mix and stir thoroughly.

If a little yellow prussiate of potash is dissolved in water and a few drops added to the bordeaux mixture no change will be noted beyond perhaps a slight yellow color if enough lime has been used. If, however, too little has been used a brown color will appear, and more lime must be added. A small excess of lime will do no harm.

Spraying Potatoes.

The barrel pump is designed to be attached to a barrel or tank and is the most generally useful form for ordinary orchards, vineyards and potato fields. Where a large amount of spraying has to be done a sprayer run by horse or steam power may be obtained. The barrel pump outfit (the pump should be attached to the head of the barrel) may be carried in almost any farm wagon which is at hand, a light one horse rig being preferable. A convenient spray cart may be cheaply made by fastening a platform of boards or plank on the axle of a pair of forward wheels which are provided with strong thills. The platform can be made so as to be readily and quickly detached when the wheels are wanted for any other purpose.

Diseases and Remedies.

Early Blight—Dark brown or black spots with sharp margins upon the leaves, increasing in size and number, finally killing the vines; usually appears on late potatoes the latter part of July.

Late Blight and Rot—Rapidly progressive wilting and dying of the leaves, a whitish moldlike growth appearing on the underside; accompanied by rotting of the tubers; appears in August.

These two diseases are frequently present together.

Treatment.—Spray with bordeaux mixture by the middle of July, a second time the first of August, a third time the middle of August. When bugs are present at either of these sprayings they may be killed by adding half a pound of paris green to a barrel of the bordeaux.—H. H. Sisson, New Hampshire Experiment Station.

Horsetail in the Hay.

Evidence has accumulated for some time that horses are seriously or even fatally poisoned by some plant contained in swale hay. The common horsetail (Equisetum arvense) is found by Messrs. Rich and Jones of the Vermont experiment station to be the cause of the trouble. It is a plant which occurs everywhere in Vermont on moist sandy soils. Other common names it bears are foxtail, pine top, jointed rush, etc. Observations by the veterinarian coupled with trial feedings show that even small quantities of equisetum in the hay cause sickness and death. The symptoms are unthriftiness, wasting of muscles, swaying and staggering gait, especially in the hind limbs, nervousness and muscular convulsions. The horse finally loses the ability to sustain itself on its feet and then soon dies. Young horses are more susceptible than older ones, while grain fed animals are more resistant. There is no evidence of poisoning from green plants in the pasture. Horses may acquire a depraved appetite for this weed to which they pick it out from the bedding. The treatment consists in the removal of infested hay and administration of purgatives followed by the use of nuxvomica.

DEMAND FOR CHICKENS.

Beyond the Supply, Says Canadian Department of Agriculture.

A bulletin issued by the commissioner's branch of the Canadian department of agriculture exhorts farmers to engage more extensively in the raising of fowls for market. Following is the bulletin in part:

The present time is most favorable for the production, fattening and marketing of farm chickens. There has been such a substantial increase in the consumption of chickens and eggs within the last few years that it is not possible to rear a greater number of suitable market chickens than can be sold with profit. Last year there were not sufficient chickens sold in Canada to supply the home markets. As a result of the shortage of chickens the trade with Great Britain was lessened. This is unfortunate on account of the great demand for Canadian chickens in Great Britain and the good prices that are paid. There are also numerous calls for Canadian chickens from Cape Colony, Australia and New York.

The chief of the poultry division, Mr. F. C. Hare, states that numerous letters have been received from produce merchants, poultrymen and commission merchants who desire to learn in what localities chickens can be bought in great numbers and at reasonable prices. From several Canadian cities, and especially from Montreal, produce firms have asked to be informed where market chickens suitable for shipping to Great Britain could be obtained in the greatest numbers. British poultrymen and commission merchants have repeatedly asked for the same information.

The problem of supplying this wonderfully increased demand for chickens can be solved by the farmers alone. Instead of the farmer rearing fifty or a hundred chickens that receive little attention or feed he should rear from 200 to 1,000 chickens annually. These should be of a utility type, such as can be found in the popular breeds Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes. The chickens should be hatched and reared by incubators and brooders, and when ready for market the cockerels should be placed in fattening crates and fastened. The equipment required to do this work is not an expensive one; $200 to $250 is the cost of incubators, brooders, houses and fattening crates for finishing 1,000 chickens. It is as necessary for realizing the greatest profits from the poultry business as thrashing and moving machinery is for general farming. The work connected with finishing 1,000 chickens with the proper appliances is no more than is necessary for rearing 200 chickens by the natural means. Poultry farming is a business that requires to be developed in the same manner as the butter, cheese and fruit branches. A substantial profit can be made from the poultry business when it is carried on as an adjunct to farming and with the same careful attention and financing.

The Dominion department of agriculture is endeavoring to increase the poultry trade of Canada, to encourage the growing of the greatest number of high class chickens and to assist in the marketing of them.

Keep Coops and Brooders Clean.

A great cause of discomfort and retarded growth with chicks is uncleaned and unsunned coops and brooders. If the coops have board floors they should be regularly cleaned at least twice a week when chicks are small and every day after the chicks are four or five weeks old. If the coops have no floors (the chicks being on the ground) move the coops to fresh ground two or three times a week for first three weeks and after that every day. Give the coops and brooders a good sunning every sunny day. Open the brooders, take the cover out and turn it up so the sun will shine full upon it, and treat the coops the same. Sunlight is a most excellent discourager of disease germs; such are of the kind that love darkness rather than light.

Trees in the Poultry Yard.

Set plum and peach trees in the poultry yard. These do the best, and especially the plums. Where poultry has access to the ground under the trees this is a mutual benefit arrangement. The plum trees shade the chicks, and the chicks eat the curculio that would sting the fruit and destroy the crop. I have tried this plan for thirty years, and it is no experiment, says Frank J. Dutcher of Hopedale, Mass.

A Fine One.

First White Indian gamecock, Boston, 1906, owned by W. S. Templeton, Dakota, Ill.—Commercial Poultry.

If your hens have any eggs do not allow them to remain in that condition. Mix one teaspoonful of coal oil with two or three of lard, or in that proportion, and thoroughly grease the shanks of the affected birds. This will kill the mites that cause the trouble. It is a good plan to prevent the trouble by greasing the shanks of the whole flock occasionally.

SHE WAS MARRIED AT 14 YEARS

At 20 Her Romance Has Reached the Point for a Desire for Its Annulment—Granted.

Detroit, July 6.—Minnie Mayville was 13 years and 10 months old, and Archibald Buchanan 17 years of age when, on April 26, 1907, the two children thought it would be great fun to get married. They came over from their Windsor homes and had Justice Tengan tie the knot. The boy gave his name as James Buchanan, aged 20, and the girl passed for 17, and had what purported to be her mother's permit. The children agreed to keep the marriage a secret, Archibald impressing it upon Minnie that his pa would be awfully mad if the secret was disclosed.

It was a year before Mrs. Sophia Parent, Minnie's widowed mother, caught on, and the parents brought the romance to an end. Miss Mayville, now a young woman of 20, told this story to Judge Brooke. She had petitioned for the annulment of the marriage. Her statement that she was of too tender age at the time to understandingly enter upon a marriage was unquestioned and a decree was granted as asked.

TOLEDO MAN WEDS A WAITRESS

Confirmed Bachelor Sees a Fair Hash Single and His Romance Has Arrived.

East Tawas, Mich., July 4.—The marriage of Violet Shaw, of this city, to Walter Spears, of Toledo, was the culmination of as pretty a romance as ever Bertha M. Clay conceived. Spears, a wealthy Toledo man, came here in the interest of the beet sugar company that is building a factory here. His first meal in his boarding place was breakfast, and Miss Shaw waited on the table. He fell in love at first sight with her pretty, black eyes, and after she had left the room he announced to his landlady, Mrs. Hedeman, that Miss Shaw must be his wife.

An introduction followed, and the gallant man who, for 40 years, had escaped Cupid's darts, laid siege at once to the heart of this charming 17-year-old girl. Impetuous in his wooing, and lavish with beautiful gifts, he soon won her consent, and he was made supremely happy by gaining her as his wife.

MRS. BOWERS WAS LUCKY

Her House Blown to Splinters Over Her Head and Her Family Not Even Scratched.

Battle Creek, Mich., July 7.—A cyclone demolished Charles Bowers' frame house, just west of this city, leaving nothing but the first floor. Mrs. Bowers and her three children were in the house, but they did not receive a scratch. The baby was rolled up in a mattress by the wind, but was not hurt, though timbers were whirling all about it.

The supper table, all set in preparation for Bowers' home-coming, was left standing on the floor with the dishes hardly disturbed. The house stood near the bank of the Kalamazoo river, and the cyclone seems to have come up the stream, leaving the valley only at Bowers' home. No other house was damaged, though trees and fences were blown down.

She Will Preach Socialism.

St. Clair, Mich., July 3.—Mrs. Kate Richard O'Hare, the Socialist speaker and writer, will occupy Rev. Ralph Dunn's pulpit in the Congregational church next Sunday evening. Mrs. O'Hare has already spoken from the pulpits of churches in Dryden and Sanilac Center, and she has heretofore been heard in this city. Many of the congregation that she will address next Sunday are familiar with her views, and find nothing to them at variance with their religious beliefs.

His Case Is Murder Now.

Is the Power Canal a Failure?

Detroit, July 7.—A story is in circulation to the effect that the new power canal at Sault Ste. Marie is an utter failure because of quicksands beneath the piles upon which the stone foundations are laid. It is said the entire structure may be torn down and rebuilt. The plant was completed five months ago, and a preliminary test was made, but it was brought to an abrupt end.

Another Young Burglar Set Free.

The boy's father, Rev. W. A. Frye, appeared before the board and promised to get employment for him this summer and send him to school later.

Stabbed to Death by Tramps.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 7.—Michael Keyner, of Pittsburg, Pa., 35 years old, was found dead by railroad section men five miles south of Kalamazoo. He had been stabbed to death on a train by tramps. The body had been thrown into a pool of water beside the railroad tracks. There were deep knife wounds in the neck. Effects on the body indicate that Keyner had been a train man.

Divorced Couple Reconciled.

Owosso, Mich., July 3.—Twenty-two years ago, Ire Thompson married a young woman living south of Owosso. The couple lived in peace for twenty years, then they separated on account of a misunderstanding over financial matters, and the husband got a divorce. After a separation of two years, the couple has been reconciled and reunited in marriage by Justice McBride.

One of the Parties Is Dead.

Detroit, July 6.—Emil Toblan is dead from a bullet wound in the stomach received in a fight in which two other men were shot. The other two men, Peter Kraemer and Frank Higgan, will probably recover. The men were shot by Anthony Soloski, a seaman, who says they were members of a gang that attacked him and his place of business.

Cramps Drowns a Boy.

Jackson, Mich., July 6.—H. Serier, of Belleville, Ky., a traveling salesman for a Cincinnati millinery house, was drowned at Clark's lake. He was bathing and it is supposed that he was seized with cramps.

Bachelor Stays His Son.

TO THE
CITY OF HOLLAND

B. L. SCOTT AND J. H. RAVEN

Be Thrifty

Neglect and financial carelessness have ruined many a young man and turned him adrift and homeless in his old age. Paying rent is a tough proposition to say the least. If you ever expect to own your own home the time to begin is to-day.

We offer to every man or woman, young or old, the opportunity of a lifetime to secure a splendid lot or house and lot in the McBride addition on 20th and 21st streets and Van Raalte avenue, which we have recently purchased from P. H. McBride, G. J. Diekema and W. H. Beech. We bought these 95 lots, including 4 brand new 8 room houses at a bargain, and to dispose of them quickly, have made the low uniform price of $150 each, including the 4 houses. The poorest lot in the 95 is worth every penny asked and the best is worth a great deal more, but to make a quick sale of every lot in the plat, we put the four houses, which are worth a thousand dollars each, in this sale, and will dispose of the entire lot, houses and all, at a uniform price of $150.

That isn't all. We will sell you one of these lots or houses and lots on a very small payment down and four dollars a month without interest. When you see the splendid location of these lots you will enroll your name among the first buyers. We furnish an abstract and give a warrant deed to every purchaser. Such an opportunity and these most liberal terms were never offered you before and will never be offered again. There are no more such desirable locations to be had for these prices in Holland. There are only 95 lots in all, including the four houses, not enough to go half way round. Come quick if you wish to take advantage of this splendid offer. Our office is on River street in Hon. Isaac Fairbanks' building. A conveyance will always be ready to drive you to the lots.

The clerk reported the collection of the following money and receipt of the city treasurer for the amount:

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Irving Bell and family have moved from their fruit farm near Saugatuck to this city at 69 West Thirteenth street.

Mrs. Paul A. Steketee and Mrs. Will Breyman handsomely entertained a party at cards at K. of P. hall Thursday afternoon.

Bert Michmershulzen will supply the schools with wood next season at $2.40 a cord, forty per cent of the wood to be maple.

We understand that J. H. Wiegink, residing just south of the city, is very low and is not expected to recover. He is one of the early settlers here.

CELERY GROWING.

Twice Transplanted Plants—Setting in Rows or Beds.

In case the grower adopts the plan of transplanting celery twice, the seedlings will be ready for the first handling in four to six weeks from the time the seed is sown. The seedlings may be transplanted to trays or to beds in the open ground. This transplanting answers two purposes:

First.—The seedling plant of celery has a straight root or taproot, which is broken in transplanting, causing a large mass of fibrous roots to be formed. In the case of a plant allowed to remain in the seed bed until planting out time this taproot has gone far down into the soil and the plant has formed very few side roots. Consequently it suffers a great shock in the process of planting in the field, and a large number of plants will need to be replaced.

Second.—When transplanting twice is practiced there is no necessity for thinning, and a more uniform lot of plants is obtained. Two plantings cannot be recommended on a large scale, as the cost of labor is too great. It is better to have a surplus of plants and renew those that fail.

For domestic use where plenty of land is available it will be found most economical to plant in single rows four, five or six feet apart, with the plants six or seven inches apart in the row. If the space is limited solid beds about five inches wide will be found suitable, with the plants set seven inches apart each way. By planting in rows the crop may be worked with a horse cultivator or a wheel hoe and the banking more easily done, and thus the cost of production is cut down. With the solid bed system the work must all be done by hand.—W. R. Beattie.

The Little Calves in Hot Weather.

During the hot weather little calves should have access to shady quarters, but this does not mean that they should be obliged to remain during the day in hot, stuffy places. A roof to protect them from the sunshine is often sufficient, because in such places the air circulates freely and they are also healthful.—Exchange

CORRESPONDENCE.

DRENTHE.

Our Fourth was well spent. Although the celebration during the day was quiet, the evening's grand display of fireworks illuminated the sky. Old veterans and sons gathered round to behold the glorious sparks in the form of stars and reminiscences of old, as they ascended in the air. From 8 o'clock until eleven o'clock the whole village of Drenthe was a blaze of fire. The street lights were not needed for the entire evening. The way the various fireworks were arranged and seen soaring up in the sky, was a pleasure to the people of Drenthe and the many visitors. Be of good cheer, some day we will celebrate this day in a proper way and show that we are patriots and American citizens, citizens of a nation of nations, Americans in thoughts and deeds.

There was a family re-union of the children and their families of J. M. Fellows, at the residence of Levi Fellows, July 4th. There were 27 present, but to the regret of all, their father J. M. Fellows, could not be with them, he being in the 'northern part of the state. A very nice picnic dinner under the mammoth apple trees in the old home yard was served, which all seemed to enjoy but the older ones, when they stopped to reflect on the past. The two prominent figures were not there, in the persons of father and mother.

Hot, dry weather prevails here nowadays. Haying is in full blast. Hay is not very heavy but of good quality.

Grain is nearly ready for the binders. It is not very heavy but of fair quality.

Satisfactory Outing Suits

Summer clothing has always been wanting in fit and permanency of style. Linings and tailors were sacrificed to coolness, and a man obtained comfort at the cost of appearances. We offer our customers thin, cool, comfortable clothes that fit as perfectly as regular full-lined garments and retain their shape. The suit is light and cool—the coat weighing but 22 ounces. The trousers have permanent cuffs to turn up at the bottom and loops at the waistband for belt. The materials are light flannel and summer outing cloths. Each suit pattern is twice sponged and shrunk before it is cut and guaranteed not to shrink after it is made up.

Doan's Kidney Pills are indorsed in Holland.

No better proof of merit can be had.

Here's a case of it. We have plenty more like it.

Mr. John Pilon, farmer near Ebenezer, says: "I had more or less trouble for years from my kidneys and whenever I worked hard or caught cold it always affected me and caused a heavy aching pain through the small of my back. It was very painful to stoop or to lift anything and at times the aching was so persistent I could scarcely get about to my work. I used different medicines and wore plasters but they did me no good. As I had seen Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended for such troubles I went to J. O. Doesburg's drug store in Holland and got a box. I used them but a short time when I felt better and continuing the treatment I was soon cured."

MAKING A LAYING STRAIN.

A Poultry Man Who Thinks It Can

Be Done Without the Trap Nest.

Suppose a poultry man wants to establish a laying strain without using trap nests.

The first thing he will do will be to introduce some new blood from the pens of a breeder of established reputation who has solved the problem of large egg production. He will send away for two cockerels to put with his best hens. He will expect to pay for them from $8 to $5 apiece, and all that he will demand of the breeder is that he will send him sturdy, well grown birds of typical shape and from an egg producing strain. He will then mate up each of these cockerels with twelve or fifteen of his best yearling hens, with the purpose of breeding from them in the spring.

The man is now face to face with his problem. There are in the two pens, let us say, some hens that will lay only fifty eggs a year and others that will lay 150. Without the trap nest how is he to tell which hens to breed from and which not? Easy enough. All he has to do is to make such a careful study of the eggs that are laid in each pen

that he can tell at a glance which pen an egg comes from and whether it will do for him to set it or not. In other words, he must watch the eggs instead of the hens and use in incubation only those eggs that he is convinced come from prolific layers. If an egg of a certain type makes its appearance

about Thanksgiving and is followed all through the winter by eggs of the same type it does not take a very gi-gantic intellect to reach the conclusion that it would be a good idea to use those eggs in incubation.

It is surprising what a difference

there is in eggs of hens of the same breed kept under the same conditions.

They differ in size, shape, color, markings, smoothness or roughness of shell and in other ways too numerous to mention. There is the most difference, of course, among the so called "brown eggs," but even in white eggs there are distinctions.

Let me illustrate from the pens with which I am most familiar. I have four breeding pens, each containing a male and twelve females, which I designate, respectively, pens A, B, C and D. I have made such a study of the eggs that I can tell at a glance from what pen an egg came and whether it is appearing with sufficient frequency to warrant me to use it or not.

Pen A is made of twelve white Wyandotte hens mated with a sturdy cockerel. It would naturally be supposed that the eggs would all look alike, but they do not, at least not to me. Each egg has its distinct and characteristic physiognomy, markings

I recognize the moment I see them.

There is a large brown egg big enough and symmetrical enough to be placed on exhibition in the poultry and eggs department at the Boston show. There is a large white egg, not quite so symmetrical, with curious blotchings at the big end, as if the line of which the shell is composed needed sandpapering down; an egg which looks like feldspar, it is so smooth and glistening; a pink egg with little white patches on it, as if it had been rolled in flour before it was dry; a straw colored egg, with little polka dots on the shell; a dark brown egg which if looked at in a strong light will show little black points like pepper dust on the shell.

And so I might go on. But it is not necessary. Not one of the twelve hens in pen A but puts her hall mark on her eggs.

Then, too, there is another way by which I keep track of the eggs. The hen is a born conservative, a creature of habit, the slave of a system. If she laid in a certain nest yesterday she means to lay there today, no matter whether another hen is ahead of her or not.—Edgar Warren in American

Poultry Journal.

Perching the Chicks.

Some breeders put in their perches at the start. If you do this see that your perch is simply a board three or four inches wide running full length of the coop. Two perches of this kind are still better at first to prevent piling up of the chicks. Until the past year we have not put in our perches until the fall, allowing the chicks to spread themselves around on the floor. Early perching is desirable in that it teaches the chicks

the habit while young. The "floor perchers" are hard to teach when older.

Even when put into the breeding houses in November many of them will persist in staying on the dropping boards instead of the perches.—Stockman and Farmer.

Massachusetts Leads.

To Massachusetts, which has long taken the lead in thoroughbred poultry culture, belongs the credit of the largest annual value of eggs per chicken, with Connecticut a close second. Is it not surprisig, too, that New York state, while has in many respects

even greater advantages in the shape of unrivaled markets for poultry products, should fall so far below those adjoining states of Massachusetts and Connecticut in annual value of the egg product per chicken and an average price per dozen of eggs also?—H. F.

Hunter.

Sunflower and Poultry.

Russian sunflowers make an excellent shade for the poultry yard and produce a large amount of the finest poultry food that can be produced.

That sunflower seed possess the special property of polishing the plumage is pure fiction. Any feed that will keep fowls in first class condition will do that as well as sunflower seed. The idea that the oil in the seeds gets on the chickens' feathers and makes them gis-ten is folly. You can't make feathers greasy by feeding fatty foods.—Farm and Ranch.

MOB MET WITH LEAD

Evansville Outlawry Receives a Check at the Muzzles of the State Rifles.

SEVEN OF THE RIOTERS ARE DEAD

While Four of the National Guard Are Hurt Defending Law and Order.

Precautions Against an Outbreak. Prove Futile—Object of the Mob's Violence Dying at Vincennes.

Evansville, Ind., July 7.—Following four days of rioting and general lawlessness this city has at last seen the most terrible of its experiences with rioters. Seven persons are dead and fourteen are known to be injured, with at least that number more thought to be hurt. The dead are as follows: Edward Schiffman, painter, top of head blown off; Hazel Allman, 15-year-old daughter of Joseph H. Allman; John Burnett, shot in right lung; August Jordan, musician, bullet wound through heart; Edward Rule, laborer, shot through body and head; two unidentified dead men lying in front of jail.

List of the Persons Wounded.

The wounded—Fred Schmidt, driver Cook's Brewing company, serious; Fred Kappeler, son of City Fireman Henry Kappeler, buckshot charge in face, and body wounds, will die; Lee Hawley, laborer, shot in leg; Robert Miller, shot in cheek; Charles Preskey, aged 17, grocery boy, shot through left wrist and bullet wounds in both heels; Theodore Beem, shot in right side, painful; John Fares, shot in head and hip, may die; Albert Kacusa, soldier, shot while picking up wounded rioter, hit in right arm, not serious.

Race prejudice between blacks and whites brought on the reign of terror. Several negroes were caught by mobs and almost beaten to death before the police could save them.

MOB WAS VERY PERSISTENT

Kept Up the Pressure Until a Shot Was Fired—Then Haved.

At 10:30 p. m. the members of company A, First regiment, Indiana National Guard, after a day's vigilance guarding the county jail and 100 deputy sheriffs under Sheriff Chris. Kratz, fired point blank into a mob of 1,000 men gathered on Fourth Division and Vine streets, surrounding the Vanderburg county jail, and attempting its capture. From 7 a. m. until the hour of the catastrophe the crowd surged about the jail, calling the militiamen vile names, assailing them with stones and berating the deputy sheriffs who guarded the jail.

At 9 p. m. the mob gradually became more and more excited, its manifestations of uneasiness more frequent, and at 10 p. m. it was seen that nothing could prevent an assault on the jail. At 10:30 p. m. the rioters pressed slowly forward, and innocent on-lookers and the curious followed. Slowly they forced the militiamen back toward the jail until the alley way between Division street and the stone building was reached. Then the leaders, with a bicycle in their front as a shield to the bayonets of the soldiers, attempted to enter the alley and storm the alleyway entrance.

Captain Blum of the National Guard, ordered a charge on the rioters. Gradually the crowd was forced back, the soldiers using their bayonets and butts of guns. Suddenly a rioter fell. A soldier tried to draw him to his feet, but before he could do so he was assaulted by a rioter. Stones and boulders began to fly through the air. A soldier was struck with a stone and fell. A rioter was knocked down with a gun butt, and then a shot was fired. The one shot started a fusillade of musketry and shotgun fire from the defenders of the jail and a scattered return fire from the rioters.

Fully 200 shots were fired from the jail windows, the court house steps immediately opposite, and by the soldiers on the streets. No one knows who fired the first shot. The soldiers say it was the rioters. The soldiers and deputies fired into the retreating mob of men, who ran into Division street falling, crying and praying. For fifteen minutes the firing continued; then it ceased. The mob was gone and the soldiers held the place. In front of the staggering band of fifty-eight soldiers lay the dead and wounded.

NEGRO BROWN IS DOOMED

Wounds He Received from the Evansville Officers Are Proving Fatal.

Vincennes, Ind., July 7.—Rumors that an Evansville mob might come here to lynch Lee Brown, the negro who killed Patrolman Massey, have caused great excitement, though the cooler heads say there is no possibility of this.

Brown is pronounced to be dying by Drs. Brock, Nesham, McDowell and Smadel. The prisoner is so weak from loss of blood from the bullet wound in his left lung that he cannot stand, and death will come within a few hours, say the doctors. Rev. Kelly, of the A. M. E. church, gave Brown spiritual consolation. Brown denied that he had been sentenced to hang for murdering a miner in Colorado.

LOUBET ARRIVES AT DOVER

Immense Crowds of People Line the Sea Front—United States Squadron Also at Dover.

Dover, Eng., July 7.—The United States European squadron arrived off Dover in the morning and exchanged salutes with the castle.

The French cruiser Guichen, having President Loubet on board, was sighted at 12:40 p. m. Immense crowds of people lined the sea front, which presented a gala appearance, the decorations being on a scale far in excess of anything previously attempted. As soon as the Guichen was sighted the Sherness flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers steamed out to meet her and escorted the French cruiser through a double line of British battleships and cruisers, extending two and a half miles and forming the most imposing naval display ever seen off Dover.

All the vessels were dressed from stem to stern and their crews manned ship and mingled their cheers with the roar of the guns firing salutes and the strains of the "Marseillaise" from the naval bands. Each ship gave the president a salute of twenty-one guns as the Guichen passed and the band of each vessel in turn took up the "Marseillaise."

The Guichen anchored off Dover shortly after 1 o'clock and exchanged salutes with Dover castle. The admirals and captains of the British fleet immediately repaired on board the French cruiser and paid official visits to President Loubet.

London, July 7.—President Loubet arrived at Victoria railroad station here from Dover at 4:15 p. m. and was accorded a great reception.

SCORE KNOWN TO BE DEAD

Sixteen Missing, and $1,500,000 in Property Destroyed by the Dam-Break at Oakford Park.

Jeannette, Pa., July 7.—As a result of the breaking of the Oakford park dam twenty persons are known to be dead and sixteen are missing. The property loss in the valley will reach $1,500,000 and the distress is so great that outside relief will have to be asked for. The number of lives lost was not so great as estimated, but the list is long enough to be appalling.

The victims of the flood were all fairly well-to-do people, who had gone to the park for a day's outing, and before the storm came had been patronizing the various amusements of the place. The trouble started with a heavy rain, which came up about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The following are the identified dead reported up to this writing: Miss Lucy Crum and Miss Gertrude Keefe, of Jeannette; Miss Outhrine Donnelly, of Grapeville; Joseph Brown, of West Jeannette; Miss Sissy Bird, of Jeannette; Miss Eva Wiggins, of Pittsburgh; Joseph Oberia, of Indianapolis, Ind.; John McCann, of Jeannette; Mary Gillespie, of Grapeville; Annie Gillespie, sister of Mary; Albert Brown, of Pittsburgh; John Fleming, of Greensburg; James Westwood, Joseph Weightman, Mrs. William Negar and three children of Mrs. William Negar, of Penn Station; Henry Fink, and Mrs. Cyrus Shrader, of Jeannette. Nearly all were young people under 30, six of them children, and one a woman of 70 years.

Distinguished People at Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 7.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt had a company of distinguished people as their guests at luncheon. Early in the day Senator Hanna of Ohio arrived at Sagamore hill on the private yacht Alvin owned by Clement A. Griscom, president of the International Navigation company. Accompanying him were Mrs. Hanna and their friend, Miss Phelps; Mr. and Mrs. Griscom, and Miss Griscom. Later Senators Fairbanks of Indiana and Kearns of Utah joined the party.

Senators Touring Alaska.

Skagway, July 7.—Senators Dillingham, Patterson, Nelson and Burnham have left here for Dawson en route to Nome. The steamer called at several Alaskan ports on the way to Skagway and the senators were given an opportunity to meet and talk with the people. Senator Patterson has come out as an open advocate for a territorial form of government, and the people of Alaska are much elated thereat.

Woman Slayer Hanged.

Lepanion, Pa., July 7.—David Shaud who shot and killed Mrs. Ida Becker and Policeman Cyrus Shaeffer, was hanged in the jailyard here. Shaud, who became angry at Mrs. Becker for testifying against him in court, met the woman on the street and shot and killed her. When the policeman went to arrest him at his home, Shaud also shot and killed him.

Assuan Reservoir Emptied.

Cairo, Egypt, July 7.—The Assuan reservoir has been emptied of its winter's store of water for the first time. The results are most satisfactory. The area of cotton is largely increased, and the success of the summer crops is assured in the entire area tributary to the dam. The officials say the expenditure on the dam was fully justified.

Von Sternberg Made Ambassador.

Berlin, July 3.—The semi-official North German Gazette announces that Baron Speck von Sternburg had been definitely appointed ambassador of Germany at Washington.

Treaty Signed by Cuba.

Havana, July 3.—The treaty covering the naval and coaling station bases and the treaty placing the Isle of Pines wholly under Cuban sovereignty were signed here at noon.

RAISING TURKEYS.

An Expert Gives Some Information of Value to the Beginner.

It does not require a great outlay of money to prepare for raising turkeys, but to be successful you must not attempt to raise them in your poultry yard. You cannot do it, I am sure.

When your turkeys hatch do not put them out in the yard with the chickens, but put them in a quiet place where no other fowls, large or small, can get to them. Let it be a place where they can have grass, shade and sun. Do not feed for at least thirty-six hours after they are hatched. For the first twenty-four hours I keep them in a basket lined with old flannel and cover them well with a woolen cover. I prefer a turkey for a mother, although a quiet, domestic hen will raise a brood of turkeys to the age of six weeks very nicely. Then the poults will generally associate with the other young turkeys if there are any, though unless they happen to be nearly the same age the turkey hen will sometimes fight those that she deems intruders. A Brahma or Cochlin hen makes a better mother for turkeys than the smaller breeds because they carry the young longer.

One essential point in raising turkeys is to keep the poults free from vermin, for a lousy poult is as good as dead. If they are allowed to become lousy they lose their vitality before the lice are discovered; so in this, as in all diseases, prevention is better than cure. When the hen is set on the eggs she must be thoroughly dusted with insect powder. I paint the outside of the barrel—for I set my turkeys in barrels—with some good liquid lice killer. This prevents gnats, which are often very troublesome and sometimes kill the sitting turkey hen. When the poults hatch I again dust the hen, but I let her shake herself well before giving her the little ones, for the insect powder is very hard on them, as it often causes them to become blind. Just a touch of thick cream on the head, under the neck and on the wing will kill the lice if there are any on the little birds, but I would not use that until they are a few days old, and then I would use it at night so they will get all the benefit. After they are two weeks old the cream can be used once a week and may be used early in the morning and kept up a short time. I would never use it, this or anything else, on a wet morning.—Bettie Glover Mackey in Bellable Poultry Journal.

A True White Rock.

Mr. H. W. Graves of Higganum, Conn., owns one of the most clearly defined types of White Plymouth Rocks that appear at the large eastern shows. This year he won all first and second honors at New York, his first hen at FIRST AT NEW YORK.

New York winning highest honors there for the fourth time. The above study will interest those who value true Rock outlines and carriage. It is a good specimen of this highly perfected strain of one of America's most popular breeds. We have noted in this strain the firmness of feather and smooth surface not always found on specimens tainted with Cochlin blood. These distinctly true types are doubly valuable in the showroom in these days of close competition and high prices for winners.—F. L. Sewell in Bellable Poultry Journal.

Getting Rid of Rats.

Mrs. C. wants to know about getting rid of rats. She wants to know if cats can be trained to refrain from killing young chicks and pigeons.

We get rid of rats by not having any good places for them to hide, by trapping them, by poisoning them and by keeping cats. We manage by using all these methods to keep them in check, so we do not suffer much from their depredations. As to training cats, we have seen several cats which would not kill chicks nor catch pigeons—while being watched. Really we had a lot of kittens last year which were brought up in the chicken yards and were on very friendly terms with the fowls, old and young. We never knew them to catch a chick—nor a rat—but the rats were afraid of them.—Commercial Poultry.

Dry Feed For Chicks.

This closes our third season of dry feed for chicks, and it has been very successful, writes Fred Hahne of Webster City, Ia., to American Poultry Journal. Out of a flock of 100 Light Brahmas and 100 Bantams we have not had a single case of bowel trouble. We aim to feed just what they will clean up in half an hour. This is placed in troughs and is composed of equal parts of bran and corn meal, coarse ground. This is the morning feed until the chicks have become fully grown. While small they get this feed morning and noon, with grain at night.

For Bowel Trouble.

Bowel trouble that carries off many chicks when one or two weeks old may be often corrected by taking away their drinking water and giving scalded milk instead.

One of the most unique plans for aiding young people to select choice books for their private libraries has been inaugurated by Henry Van der Ploeg. He offers fifty dollars in prizes for the best lists of twenty-five or more books, which would make acceptable reading for young people. Among the prizes offered are a Webster's Unabridged Dictionary and an Encyclopedia Britannica. For particulars as to this literary contest we refer the readers of the Times to another column of today's issue.

An anecdote is told of the late Governor Morton, which illustrates the troubles of the "gentleman farmer." Some friends were lunching with him at his elaborately equipped farm, and were asked whether they would prefer champagne or milk. As the luncheon was an impromptu affair, and the wine had not been opened, several of the gentlemen present indicated that milk would satisfy their modest wants. "Oh," said Governor Morton, "it does not matter which you take! They cost the same." —From "Suburban Life in America," in the July Cosmopolitan.

Grand Haven is favored at the present time with more steamship lines than any other port on the lake, Chicago alone excepted.—G. H. Tribune.

GREAT LITERARY CONTEST

FIFTY DOLLARS GIVEN AWAY--GREATEST OFFER EVER MADE HERE.

Unique Plan to Help the Young Men and Women of Holland Select Proper Books for Their Libraries.

In order to stimulate the reading of good literature among the boys and girls of Holland and other places, and to guide them in the choice of a good library of their own, I have decided to invite the aid of the readers of the Times in this matter.

The Reason

Many and many a time requests have come to me to pick out a suitable selection of books for young men and women who want to build up a library of their own. A few of them have some ideas as to the books they desire, but by far the greater number are at a loss to choose from amongst the bewilderingly large number and variety of books thrown upon the market every year.

It is to help these young men and women gratify their ambition and to give them the benefit of the experience of other readers and lovers of books, that I have ventured on this method of obtaining the aid of the men and women who care as to what books are read by the boys and girls of today.

The Contest

This contest will be conducted according to the following rules:

1. The books must be suitable for young men and women between the ages of 15 and 25.
2. The list must contain the names of from twenty-five to forty books, whose aggregate cost shall not exceed $25.00.
3. Each list must state whether intended for young men or women.
4. Titles and authors of books must be plainly written. (Also publisher and price, where possible—this is optional.)
5. The contestants will write assumed names under their lists. In a sealed envelope enclosed with list they will place their own name. This is done in order that the judges may not be biased by the name of some person, thought more capable than the rest.
6. The lists will be judged by two committees of competent persons, one composed of three ladies and one composed of three men.
7. The contest will close August 15, 1903. Any letter received bearing postmark of that date will receive recognition.
8. Any reader of the Times who, during July and the first two weeks of August, purchases books or stationary from our store amounting to fifty cents, will be entitled to take part in this contest; any reader who purchases one dollar's worth shall be entitled to take part in both, that is, he may send one list for young men and one for young women.
9. All lists submitted are to be addressed to H. Vander Ploeg 44 E. 8th St., Holland, Mich., and must enclose a ticket showing that bearer is entitled to take part. These tickets will be handed out or sent to the purchasers mentioned above.
10. The result will be announced as soon after August 15th as possible, and will be published.

Fifty Dollars in Prizes

Two sets of prizes will be offered as follows:

- FOR YOUNG WOMEN'S LIST
- 1st—Encyclopedia Britannica, Americanized, 10 volumes...$12 50
 - 2nd—Ox-Yoke Essay Album..... 7 00

Remember
